

Coordinator of Marketing, S M Zahid Hasan, Executive Director (Policy, HR & Admin) and Senior Deputy Director Md. Abul Bashar Uzzal of Walton, were present during the signing ceremony.

The deal will see bKash payment accepted at all Walton flagship outlets across the country. From now, customers can also make their EMI payment for Walton products through bKash, a company press release says.

The customers have to display the QR code in their bKash app at the store and have it scanned to complete the payment. They can also make the payment by dialing USSD channel *247#, then select the '3' for payment option followed by some interactive steps to complete the payment.

Walton also exports products in Naigeria, Sudan, Ghana, South Africa, Myanmar, Nepal etc.

USA Technologies, Pepsi distributor to expand cashless vending

USA Technologies Inc. has entered a new five-year agreement with Pepsi Cola of the Hudson Valley to upgrade cashless payment devices on 1,000 existing vending machines and install cashless payment devices on another 300 machines, in a company release.

The independent Pepsi Cola franchise serves Putnam, Dutchess, Orange, Rockland, Sullivan and Ulster counties in New York. The 1,000 machines use USA Technologies ePort Connect Service.

"Our expanded agreement with USAT not only brings us closer to offering cashless payment options on all our machines through the industry's best-in-class payment platform, but delivers exceptional services to our customers while reducing operational costs on the back end," Topher Black, director of full-service vending for Pepsi Cola of the Hudson Valley, said in the announcement.
